COMMUNICATION
BOOTCAMP

This graduate student workshop will require six weekly sessions of approximately three hours each. Students will have multiple opportunities to develop and practice their communication skills with a variety of presentation and conversation formats. Participants will receive feedback and present their revised presentations or conversations. Workshop completers will also receive a certificate.

Every Friday
Oct. 11 to Nov. 15
9 am to Noon

Plant Sciences Hall, Room 275

COACHES:

Christine Booth, Ph.D.

Lecturer in agronomy and horticulture

Martha Mamo, Ph.D.

Professor and department head of agronomy and horticulture

WORKSHOP GOALS:

- Build graduate students' competency and confidence in communicating with a diverse audience
- Increase students' ability to articulate the importance of their science to a diverse audience, thereby increasing the value of their science.

ELIGIBILITY:

All graduate students in the Department of Agronomy and Horticulture are eligible to apply. We will accept students on a first-come, first-served basis. The workshop is limited to 15 participants, so register early!
